

Board of Estimates, which controls the city's purse. A Fusion majority in the Board of Aldermen also seems assured. In the Sixth Assembly District, William Sulzer, recently deposited as governor, was elected on the Progressive ticket.

Tammany leaders early conceded the election of Mitchell, but it was not until nearly 11 o'clock that they would concede the Board of Estimate to Fusion. It looks as if we had lost everything. Secretary Thomas Smith, of Tammany Hall, finally admitted.

McCall Is Calm.

Former Judge McCall, the Tammany candidate, retired early. He took the announcement of his defeat calmly when told over the telephone that the returns spelled Mitchell by a big majority.

"He that set" said Mr. McCall. "I have been playing golf all day, and I am tired. I will send a telegram of congratulation to Mr. Mitchell and go back to bed."

When Mr. Mitchell arrived at Fusion headquarters, he was asked:

"What are you going to do about Murphy?"

By not recognizing either him or any one connected with him, I am going to do all I can to drive him out of business."

A foregone conclusion of the balloting today was the election of Charles S. Whitman to the district attorneyship. He was a candidate on nearly all the many tickets.

With all the police captains shifted to new precincts, the picked detectives assigned to arrest recognized criminals, if they appeared to vote, and thousands of watchers of the honest ballot association at the polls, today's election was one of the quietest in years. There were only about 100 arrests for illegal voting. There was trouble at polling places in the East Side districts, but little elsewhere.

The vote was the heaviest in the city in years.

Result in Troy.—Troy, N. Y., November 4.—Cornelius J. Burns, Democrat, was re-elected Mayor by a plurality of 343.

Incumbent Mayor Loses.—Auburn, N. Y., November 4.—Charles W. Bristor, Republican and Progressive, was elected Mayor by 225 votes over the present Mayor, Thomas J. O'Neill.

Clare Is Winner.—Amsterdam, N. Y., November 4.—James N. Clare, Republican and Progressive, was elected Mayor by over 1,000 plurality.

Willow Chosen Mayor.—Poughkeepsie, N. Y., November 4.—Daniel W. Willow, Republican and Progressive, was elected Mayor by a plurality of 343.

Smith Named in Utica.—Utica, N. Y., November 4.—James Smith, Democrat, was elected Mayor by 1,500 plurality.

Progressive Is Winner.—Johnstown, N. Y., November 4.—Johnstown elected a Progressive Mayor, following a spirited four-cornered fight. Judge Clarence W. Smith, Progressive, had 585 votes; William H. Cunningham, Republican, 577; John T. Morrison, Democrat, 567; and Frank Hester, Socialist, 502.

Green Wins in Watertown.—Watertown, N. Y., November 4.—Isaac R. Green, Republican, was elected Mayor by plurality of 465 over Nick, Democrat.

Republican Defeated.—Rome, November 4.—H. C. Midlam, Democrat, was elected Mayor by a plurality of 225. The present Mayor is a Republican.

Citizens' Candidate Wins.—Schenectady, N. Y., November 4.—J. Teller Schoolcraft, Citizens' candidate, was elected Mayor, defeating Mayor George R. Lunn, Socialist, for re-election by over 2,000.

Victory for Republican.—Rochester, N. Y., November 4.—Hiram C. Egerton, Republican, was elected Mayor by approximately 3,000 plurality over George C. Staud, Democrat and Progressive.

Fuhrmann Re-Elected.—Buffalo, N. Y., November 4.—Louis P. Fuhrmann, Democrat, was re-elected Mayor by a plurality of about 650. The other Democratic candidates for city offices were elected by pluralities ranging up to 12,000. This vote with a few scattered districts missing.

Fuhrmann, Democrat, 27,818; O'Brien, Citizens, 21,349; Stoddard, Republican, 12,198.

CONDITIONS EXAGGERATED.—Governor Hudson Refuses to Send Troops. Indianapolis, Ind., November 4.—Gov.

Berry's Clothes

We'll solve the clothes puzzle.

Bring in your problem.

If you want a suit to stand the world of hard knocks here's one at $15 that you'll never knock.

$5 more means more work of the highly paid artisan tailors.

$25 means luxury.

$30 to $40 well, come in and see them.

All the overcoats are ready too.

W. H. D. Murphy

Result Great Victory for Good Government

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

New York, November 4.—At 10:15 o'clock to-night John Purroy Mitchell, Mayor-elect, issued the following statement:

"A sincere personal gratification I feel in the sense of deep responsibility I feel to my fellow-citizens."

"This is not a personal triumph, but a great victory for good government."

"I shall be Mayor of all the people of New York and not of any faction, division or body."

"To Judge McCall I extend my sincere personal greetings. He has reaped the whirlwind and suffered the consequences of an intolerable condition of a corrupt machine and its incidents are now history."

"As Mayor I shall now invite the co-operation of Judge McCall as chairman of the Public Service Commission in carrying out the plan for rapid transit in the city."

"To every man who, as officer, soldier in the ranks, or citizen, has given of his heart or service in the city, I express my warmest gratitude. But the fight for good government has just begun, and I ask for the militant co-operation of every citizen for its complete accomplishment."

error Halston received a telephone request at 6:30 o'clock to-night asking that troops be rushed to Gary, Ind., where it was said the police were unable to quell election riots. The county coroner and a politician are reported probably fatally hurt.

Governor Halston, after talking with Mayor Knotts at Gary over the long-distance telephone, refused to send troops to Gary. The Mayor said conditions there had been exaggerated, and the Governor declared it would be impossible to get the State militia there before to-morrow, when they would not be needed.

REPUBLICAN RE-ELECTED.—Bridgeport, Conn., November 4.—Clifford B. Wilson, Republican, was today re-elected Mayor of Bridgeport, after a bitter campaign, defeating his Democratic opponent, Frederick C. Mullins, by a plurality of 2,149 votes. Both the Socialist and Progressive vote showed a big increase.

M'MANIGAL OUT OF JAIL.—Poor Health Results in Order That May Be Released.

Los Angeles, November 4.—The poor health of Otto E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, was the reason today for his release from the county jail. McManigal, a coworker of the McManis brothers, and chief witness against thirty-three labor union officials, who were sentenced to imprisonment for complicity in a national dynamite conspiracy, has never been tried.

McManigal has been in poor health for some time. Frederick and today, and he has been taken out of jail on the promise of a physician. He may be back in a few days, a few weeks or a few months.

According to jail attendants, McManigal's appetite and constantly increasing weight and weight indicated that his health may have been due to the fact that he had been in the hospital for some time. The operation performed to remove from his stomach a great mass, by which he feared former associates might recognize him.

YACHT POUNDING TO PIECES.—The Senator Bailey Goes to Rescue of the Wrecked.

Galveston, Tex., November 4.—"S. O. Sullivan," a senatorial yacht, today from the wrecked Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa. The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

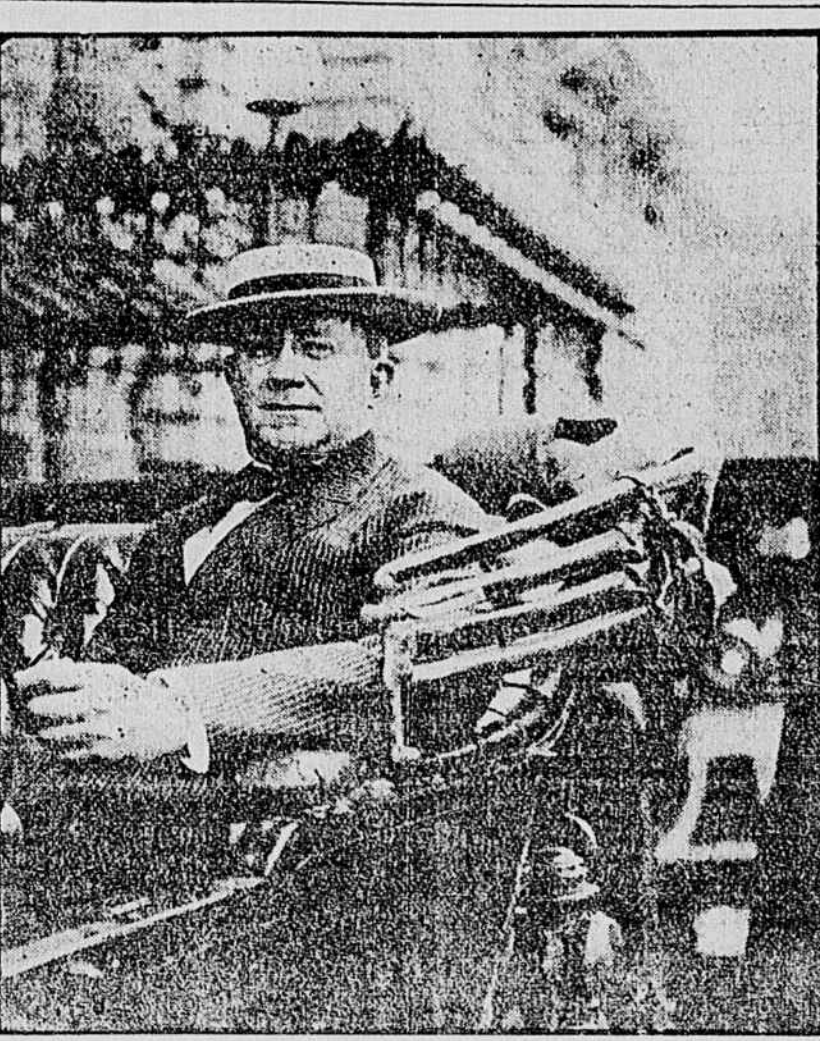

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

Admits Tammany is Snowed Under

LEADER CHARLES E. MURPHY.

MITCHELL'S FATHER WELL KNOWN HERE

Grandfather of New York's New Mayor Once Edited Richmond Examiner.

Although the new Mayor of New York, John Purroy Mitchell, has never visited Richmond, his father and grandfather were well known here, his grandfather, John Mitchell, having been one of the war-time editors of the Richmond Examiner. Mayor-Elect Mitchell's father was an officer in the Confederate army.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

FIRE ON RIVER FRONT.—Storage Plants Destroyed, Causing Loss of $500,000.

Philadelphia, November 4.—Fire to-night did damage to the extent of $500,000 on the river front at Vine Street and Delaware Avenue, when the oil storage plants of the Indian Refining Company and the Pennsylvania Alcohol and Chemical Company and the rag and paper warehouse of J. I. Langhans & Co. were burned out by the flames. One fireman was fatally injured and eight were overcome. The blaze started at 7 o'clock and at midnight was burning, although under control.

Against Boss Rule.—[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, November 4.—The defeat of Murphy in New York indicates that the country will not always tolerate boss rule," said Senator George E. Chamberlain, of Oregon, tonight, discussing the New York city election. "Tammany is an organization that is all right, but it is in the hands of the wrong men. The defeat of those now at the head of that organization would be a benefit to the whole country. If Tammany, or any other party organization is to endure it must have good men at the head, men who put principles above graft and Tammany's record in that respect will not bear inspection."

REPUBLICAN RE-ELECTED.—Bridgeport, Conn., November 4.—Clifford B. Wilson, Republican, was today re-elected Mayor of Bridgeport, after a bitter campaign, defeating his Democratic opponent, Frederick C. Mullins, by a plurality of 2,149 votes. Both the Socialist and Progressive vote showed a big increase.

M'MANIGAL OUT OF JAIL.—Poor Health Results in Order That May Be Released.

Los Angeles, November 4.—The poor health of Otto E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, was the reason today for his release from the county jail. McManigal, a coworker of the McManis brothers, and chief witness against thirty-three labor union officials, who were sentenced to imprisonment for complicity in a national dynamite conspiracy, has never been tried.

McManigal has been in poor health for some time. Frederick and today, and he has been taken out of jail on the promise of a physician. He may be back in a few days, a few weeks or a few months.

According to jail attendants, McManigal's appetite and constantly increasing weight and weight indicated that his health may have been due to the fact that he had been in the hospital for some time. The operation performed to remove from his stomach a great mass, by which he feared former associates might recognize him.

YACHT POUNDING TO PIECES.—The Senator Bailey Goes to Rescue of the Wrecked.

Galveston, Tex., November 4.—"S. O. Sullivan," a senatorial yacht, today from the wrecked Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa. The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

The Senator Bailey has gone to the rescue of the Wrecked, a boat from New Orleans to Tampa, indicating the vessel in pounding to pieces on the shore some thirty miles from Tampa.

NORFOLK RESULT STILL IN DOUBT

[Continued From First Page.]

of Edward J. Doran, the present commissioner, having aided him to run far ahead of either present officeholders who compose the "organization" ticket.

The Citizens' party claims to have carried the following offices by from 200 to 300 majority.

Clerk of Corporation Court, Richard W. Pentress; city treasurer, P. C. Stanworth; city collector, J. Bunyan Jones; Commonwealth's attorney, O. L. Von Schell; city sergeant, J. M. Higgins; for House of Delegates, S. A. Woodward and W. P. Cousins.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two sons in the Confederate army, who frequently visited at his father's home during the war. The younger son, John Mitchell, moved to New York after the war, and was the father of the new Mayor. The other, a captain in artillery of the Confederate service, was killed at Fort Sumter. Major Dooley remarked that he had no doubt many of the older men of Richmond would recall the elder Mitchell, who was the associate of John M. Davis, and other distinguished men connected with the Examiner during the war period.

Major James H. Dooley said yesterday that the recalled Editor John Mitchell very well. Mr. Mitchell having lived at his father's home in Richmond during the years 1862-1864, while engaged in writing editorial for the Examiner, then the leading daily paper in Richmond. Major Dooley said that Editor Mitchell had two